Sounds Silly

Swimming Pool Catches Fire

It sounds almost impossible, but the city's swimming pool in Conner Park caught on fire Saturday night.

The vent pipe on the hot water heater got too hot and set a board running at the edge of the eave on fire. Damage was confined to that board.

City workers insulated the vent Monday morning to prevent further fires.

City Secretary Dudley Bayne said the board around the eave of the pump house is almost the only wood in the entire swimming pool structure. The pool opened on schedule Monday afternoon.

Graveside Rites Held for Infant

Graveside rites for Karl Don Hicks, infant son of Cpl. and Mrs. Don R. Hicks, were conducted Tuesday morning in Dreamland Cemetery by Bob Wear, minister of the Central Church of Christ.

Burial was under the direction of Warren-LaGrone Funeral Chapel. The baby was born May 23 in Twenty-Nine Palms, Calif., where his father is stationed with the Marine Corps.

In addition to the parents, survivors include the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hicks and Dr. and Mrs. M. B. Measamer, all of Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Wilkins, Connie and Gaydell, moved Saturday to their new home in Fort Collins, Colo.

Diane Prichard Named '56 Valedictorian

At Canyon High School graduation exercises Thursday night, 63 seniors listened solemnly to the concluding words of Lt. Col. A. H. Prichard's address on the subject of "A Decade of Security Through Global Air Power."

Col. Prichard, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Prichard and currently Strategic Air Command B-36 pilot and Commander of the 336th Bomb Squadron of 95th Bombardment Wing, Biggs Air Force Base, Texas, said, "Members of the class, keep posted on current nation and world affairs. You will have something to say about it in service, in science, in government or some journalistic endeavor. Also in cases as voters in national and international affairs."

"Remember well the lessons you have learned up to this time and continue your quest for education."

Be guided from day to day activities by faith in God. Pray that many important decisions each day, that will affect us so much now and later, will be made with His guidance."

Col. Prichard summarized development of air power and the global range of today's bombers and gave his own experiences in the Air Force to explain how the security works affect those in the Air Force. "Through the Air Force, we can continue to realize security benefits," he said.

"There is no partial readiness for defense in the Air Force according to Col. Prichard. "For the first time in 100 years, war in this country is a definite possibility," Col. Prichard said. "In case of war, there will be no time to train men. We must be ready."

To illustrate just how ready the Air Force is, Col. Prichard said, "Today, in a matter of hours, we can deliver 100 times that destruction of World War II."

Following the address, Newton Crain, president of the school board, awarded diplomas.

Diane Prichard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Prichard and sister of Col. Prichard, was honored as valedictorian and presented a scholarship from the state legislature to be used at any state school. She has a 96.05 average.

Announced as salutatorian, Tom Wilbanks, son of the Rev. and Mrs. T. Winston Wilbanks, received a scholarship from the church related schools for the second highest average of 95.61. In addition, Tom had previously received a National Presbyterian scholarship to Trinity University, San Antonio, Texas.

The CHS plaque award based on standards of citizenship, scholarship and achievement went to Charlotte Crain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Crain. Charlotte had an average of 93 for four years work.

Other honors were given Edward Hinders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hinders, who received the $50 Canyon Chapter FFA scholarship; Joyce White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. White, the $100 Classroom Teachers scholarship; and Nancy Root, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Root, the $100 Canyon Chamber of Commerce scholarship.

For the first time, an opportunity award, given by an anonymous donor, was included in the honors. Eulen Whitten, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Whitten, received the scholarship which is to be applied for tuition fees at WT. The scholarship was awarded on the standards of keen interest in learning, desire to teach and for being a good school citizen and showing the greatest progress.

Two seniors had been notified previously of honors but were given special recognition. Carol Ann Holman has received the $100 WTSC Ex-Student Association scholarship and Ralph Miller has been accepted as a cadet in the second class of the USAF academy.

Principal J. E. Miller who presented the honors said the class had an average of 85.7 per cent. An average of above 90 per cent was maintained by 18 members of the class, and 33 had averages above 85 per cent.

City Adopts Budget; Tax Raise

PLAN TO SPEND $163,329.84

A budget calling for expenditure of $163,329.84 and raising the tax rate to $1.25 per hundred dollar assessed valuation was adopted May 31 by the Canyon City Commission.

The tax rate increase was called for when the budget showed that only $10,000 would be left from taxes for running the city after interest and sinking fund requirements were met.

Under the old rate of $1 per hundred valuation, some $50,740 would be collected in taxes during the year. The tax bond requirements for the coming year total $40,809.50.

Using the $1.25 tax rate, the city expects to get $63,425 in taxes. The last increase in taxes was in 1951 when the valuation rate was increased to 40 per cent. It meant a rate increase of six per cent.

The increase will mean an additional cost of about $1 per thousand dollars of actual value. City Secretary Dudley Bayne said the extra tax on a house actually worth $10,000 would be $10.

The city has had three tax-revenue bond issues without having a tax increase. The amount borrowed was $275,000. The cost for the coming year for water revenue bonds will be $21,000. Total bond repayment this year will be $61,809.50.

By departments, the city's expected expenses will be: Administrative, $17,023; Police, $17,463; Fire, $3,198; Health, $17,872; Park, $6,883; Street, $28,290; Sewer, $7,135; and Water, $65,456.84.

The 1956-57 budget is $23,596.02 more than the actual expenditures for 1955-56.

The increase came from $10,000 budgeted for a pump for a water well which has already been dug, but never used; $2,750 for a patrolman for the police department; $2,850 for another operator in the street department; $1,800 for pump and water plant repairs; and various smaller items which reflect higher costs for equipment and materials.

The bond requirements for the coming year are 38.3 per cent of the entire new budget.

The city's water rates were raised in January in an effort to (Cont. on Back Page Section 1)

Hire Kress School Business Manager As Replacement for Dudley Bayne

The Canyon City Commission employed a replacement for City Secretary Dudley Bayne at a special meeting Tuesday morning.

Andrew Boggs, business manager of the Kress Public School System and acting city secretary for the city of Kress, will take over Bayne's job after he leaves for the city managership of Hereford June 15.

A native of Tulsa, Boggs has been business manager of the Kress schools since 1951. He has been acting city secretary of Kress since the town was incorporated in October, 1953.

In hiring Boggs, the city commission said, "Of all the applicants we interviewed, Boggs has had more practical experience in operating a city. We feel he is better qualified to be our city secretary."

Boggs was born May 30, 1931, in Tulsa. His family moved to a farm near Plainview when he was three years old, and moved again to a farm near Kress in 1941.

He graduated from Kress High School in 1948 and attended Lipert's Business School in Plainview for one year. He was married in 1949 and farmed until he became business manager for the schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Boggs have one son, Greg, 5.

The permit, issued to Neil Singleton-Contractor, is for the courthouse annex. Total permits issued last month were $114,555, bringing the year's total to $384,105.

Only one permit for a new residence was issued during May. Those permits issued were:

178 Attend 4-H Camp Near Here

Beginning a three-day summer camp, 178 4-H Club boys and girls and extension workers from 22 counties started a full schedule of activities Monday morning at Camp Don Harrington.

The camp started at 10 a. m. with registration and organization of groups and the camp council. Activities for the youngsters included classes in recreation, electricity, nature study and safety. As individual activities, the campers could select gardening, swimming, rifle shooting, games and rope making.

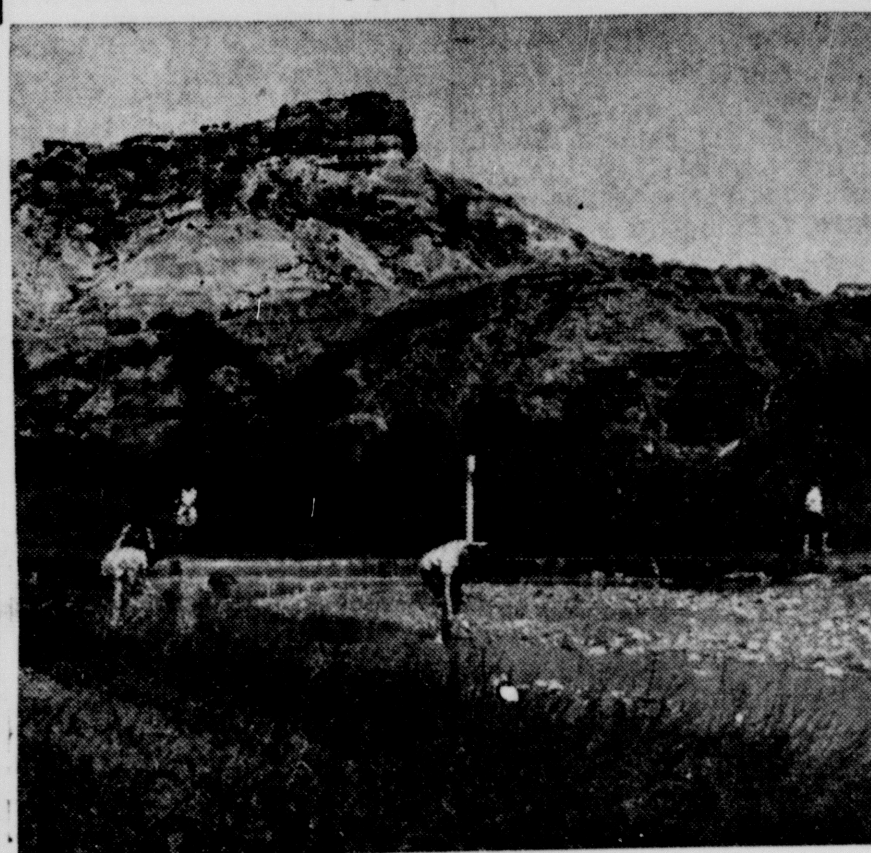

The program for Monday night included Guest Night supper, a film and lecture on safety by a highway patrolman and a party.

Tuesday began early with swimming for those who wanted it shortly after 6 a. m. Classes were scheduled to start at 9 a. m. and last all morning. More classes were held during the afternoon.

The camp was scheduled to end after noon today. During the morning achievements and awards were to be presented and the state council members were to be elected. Each district sends two council members, a girl and a boy, to the state roundup. The candidates, including Charles Conatser of Canyon, were elected during the first day of the camp.

Chairman of the camp this year is E. L. Dysart, County Agent of Hartley County.

Junior Softball League To Organize In Junior High Meeting Thursday

An organizational meeting of the junior softball league will be held in the junior high school gymnasium at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, Lynn Hulsey, director of the league, has announced.

Boys nine through 14 are asked to attend the meeting as are adults who would like to act as managers for the teams. Hulsey said he would like to have as large a turnout as possible.

Rules for the league will be formulated at the meeting, and those youngsters present will be split into teams. At present there will be six teams.

Hulsey said that if the response is large enough, the league will be split by age groups.

Present plans call for games to be played on Monday and Thursday nights at the college ball park. Two games a night will be played. A double round-robin schedule will be set up and a trophy will be given to the winning team.

Later, if plans for lighting a ball diamond on school land by the city park work out, the games will be shifted to that area.

Six merchants will sponsor the teams. The merchants are Sternberg Lumber, Taylor-Evans Farm Stores, Taylor and Sons Country Store, Hosea Foster Insurance, Bellah's Supermarket and Cooper's Market.

Hulsey said that if the league is split, more sponsors would be needed. He urged all youngsters interested in playing softball and all adults who would like to manage teams to attend the meeting Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Guthrie of Boulder, Colo., spent the Memorial Day weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Guthrie and Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Thomas.

Giant Clarence Young Tells His Story to Sheriff

Clarence Edward Young, confessed killer of Robert Boyd Chapman, was indicted by the Randall County Grand Jury Friday on one count of murder and one of theft over $50. He is held in the Randall County jail without bond.

Arrested on the morning of May 29 in Wichita, Kan., Young was returned to Canyon by Sheriff L. S. Johnston and Deputy Elmer Barnett. The case was considered by the grand jury following his return.

Young confessed to slaying Chapman in the early morning of March 14 in the roadside park south of Canyon on Highway 87. He said he stabbed Chapman with a bayonet.

Chapman's body was found by two Tulsa youths on the evening of March 17. After identification by Chapman by the FBI on the following Tuesday, a hunt for the murderer was begun.

Young gave the sheriff and Dist. Atty. A. W. Lair a signed statement. Lair said he will ask for the death penalty for Young and is seeking an early trial.

The next criminal docket set for 47th District Court in Randall County is in October. Judge E. E. Jordan is presently on vacation and will not return until early in July. It is not known if he will set a special criminal docket this summer to try Young.

After talking with Young, Sheriff Johnston has pieced together a story of Young's travels with Chapman and after the murder.

Young, who had been working in Lewistown, Idaho, where his mother lives, left Lewistown and rode a bus to Phoenix. There he shipped his luggage, two suitcases, to Amarillo and began hitchhiking.

Chapman, who was moving from Phoenix to his home in Michigan, left Phoenix in the middle of the afternoon on March 12. He picked Young up at the edge of Phoenix.

The two drove to Show Low, Ariz., where they spent the night.

On the 13th of March, the two drove toward Amarillo, arriving there around midnight. They attempted to pick up Young's luggage, but found it had not arrived.

Young told the sheriff they drank coffee in a cafe, then decided to ride around until the luggage got in. He said they drove down to Canyon and turned left off the highway onto the Palo Duro Canyon highway.

Young said they drove down the highway a bit, then turned around and came back to the light. They turned left again and went down to the roadside park and turned in.

Young told the sheriff that Chapman had made indecent gestures toward him, and Young decided to get out of the car and leave.

He said he walked about 20 feet away and Chapman ordered him to return to the car. Young said he saw Chapman had a gun (a .25 automatic) when he got back to the car.

After getting back in the car, Young said Chapman relaxed with the gun. At that time, Young said he reached into the back seat and got a bayonet Chapman had showed him earlier in the day.

He said he began stabbing Chapman "as fast as he could." He said Chapman, who was sitting in the driver's seat, put up a battle.

After stabbing Chapman, Young said he pulled the body across the front seat of the car and onto the ground. He left him there a few minutes, then picked Chapman up by the waistband of his trousers and took him into the weeds. He said the murder occurred about 1:30 a. m.

Young said he picked up Chapman with his right hand because "It is stronger than my left hand."

Young said he stripped Chapman's pockets and took all his money. After leaving Chapman in the weeds, Young said he took the Terry cloth seat cover off the front seat of Chapman's car and washed his hands in the creek.

He put on another pair of pants. He said he covered the bloody front seat with a couple of blankets and went to Amarillo and recovered his luggage.

Young began driving to Oklahoma City. In Shamrock, he was seen as he ran a red light. Young said he remembered running the red light.

Young cleaned up again in a creek near Oklahoma City and drove through Tulsa to Picher, Okla., arriving there on the night of the 14th.

He buried the blankets he had put on the seat and the seat cover in mine-tailings near Treece, Kan. He visited his grandparents in Picher, and while there broke the radiator of Chapman's car while driving over a railroad track.

Young took a 0-30 carbine and a double-barreled shotgun that was in Chapman's car and went to Miami, Okla., to get the car fixed. He traded the shotgun to a garageman for fixing the radiator and sold the carbine at an auction in Commerce, Okla.

He visited in the area, gave away some of the clothing in the car and drove to Wichita, Kan., arriving there on the evening of the 17th, the same day that Chapman's body was found here.

In Wichita he stayed with a brother for a few days, then began working for Watkins, Inc., a steel fabricator. He moved to a cheap rooming house.

Young met a waitress in a cafe where he ate and married her on April 24. Before they were married, they drove to Mansville, Ark., to get her mother so she could sign the marriage license. They drove in Chapman's car.

After being married, Young con-

Early in the fall of 1874, a band of Kiowa, Cheyenne and Comanche Indians who had broken out of their reservations were out in the Palo Duro Canyon, their winter home of many years gone by.

Up from South Texas to capture the wandering Indians and return them to the Indian Territory was Gen. R. S. Mackenzie and a detachment of cavalry.

Late in September, around the 22nd, Gen. Mackenzie got between the Indians and their horses, and slaughtered hundreds of horses on the Tule Creek. The Indians escaped on foot, however.

The general and his troops followed the Indians on up the Palo Duro and caught up with them on the 24th, finding them hidden up in the rocks along the walls of the canyon. The Indians, using rifles they had hidden out earlier, tried to pick off the soldiers one by one, but after a battle were rounded up.

Gen. Mackenzie started the Indians off for Fort Sill, and they walked to the Oklahoma fort that fall.

Among those Indians was a Texas woman, Millie Durgan, who had been captured by Kiowas near the present site of New Castle, when she was six years old. Millie Durgan lived with the Kiowas the rest of her life.

Last Friday, Millie Durgan's grandson, Robert Goombi, president of the American Indian Association, was here visiting Palo Duro Canyon where his ancestors had lived. Along with Chief Goombi were six Kiowas who had participated in a rain dance for the Pioneer Days at Hereford. They were Ernie Keohbone, Matthew Whitehorse, George Palmer, Philamon Barry, Jack Hokeah and Wilson Ware.

Goombi said his grandmother had talked many times of the Palo Duro Canyon, and his mother and father used to come to the Panhandle to visit Col. Charles Goodnight and do a little hunting.

The other Indians said that the "old folks" back home knew all about the Palo Duro and talked of it some.

The group of Indians had a short tour of the Canyon, took a ride on the train, ate a steak supper cooked over mesquite wood and charcoal and went through the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum.

Chief Goombi and his dancers were taken through the canyon and the museum by Park Manager Pete Cowart, Museum Director Boone McClure, Chamber of Commerce President R. B. Allen, Chamber Manager Roland Black, Clarence Kincaid, member of the tourist development committee, and John Buchanan, operator-engineer-conductor-brakeman on the Palo Duro, Burlington and Western Railroad.

The Indians were impressed by the canyon as well as by the museum. Wilson Ware said his family had been wanting to go somewhere this summer, and he might bring them to Palo Duro. Chief Goombi told McClure that the entire state should be proud of the museum—"It's like no other museum anywhere," he said.

History, in this part of the country, is not nearly so old as you might think. The grandparents of those seven Indians lived right here, had undisputed reign over the region. Their parents, although living on reservations in Oklahoma, knew of the Palo Duro from first-hand stories. The "old folks" on the reservation still talk of the Palo Duro, and a part of a new generation has now had a visit to their ancestral home.

Once upon a time there were two neighbors who both had a flock of chickens. Things being like they are, the men got 20 eggs a day from their flocks. Both like eggs, and they ate their eggs.

However, one of the neighbors decided to save back some of his eggs and hatch them. He ate only 10 while his neighbor was gobbling up 20. The first thing you know, those 10 eggs hatched and the saving neighbor had more chickens, then more eggs, then more chickens until finally he had all the eggs he wanted to eat, had eggs to sell, chickens to sell and was waxing fat off the land.

His neighbor still had his original flock and was still eating his 20 eggs a day, and was getting greener all the time. Finally he appealed to the government.

"My neighbor is getting rich from chickens while I can barely make a living. I think he should be forced to break some of his eggs and maybe kill some of his chickens so he won't be making more than me. Or better yet, make him give me half of the eggs that he gets so we'll have the same amount."

The government thought that was a good idea, and forced the prosperous neighbor to give up his extra eggs. Now, he thought that wasn't fair and didn't see any use in putting out all that extra work, so he went back to eating all his 20 eggs a day, gave away all his extra chickens and went out of business.

Both neighbors were back on an equal footing—both had 20 eggs a day to eat, and they ate all the eggs their chickens would produce. There was still plenty to eat and everybody was fairly happy until finally all the chickens died and neither had any eggs at all.

That's the dangerous path that socialism, ie, government handouts, leads unsuspecting people down. When extra effort no longer produces extra benefit, most men will cease to put out the extra effort.

We townspeople, who keep busy with our own affairs, should take a bit of time off right now and take a little drive into the country.

Since the rains, pasture grass has greened up and the land actually looks liveable—something I wasn't too sure about for a mighty long time.

With some more rain spaced along every week or so, this is going to be a beautiful country again. With luck, the farmers might even have some crops.

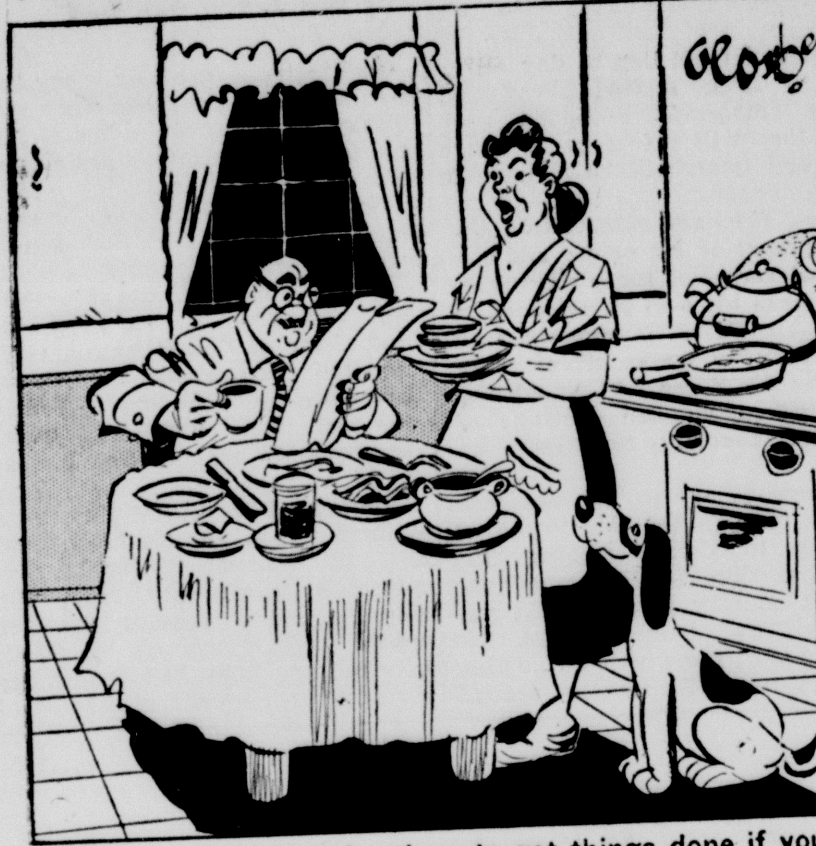

Four members of the Committee for the White House Conference on Education submitted a "Statement of Exception" to the Committee's recommendation of Federal aid to schools. Written by Frank H. Sparks, the statement says, in part, "No government during modern times has started on the road to central financing of its school system and turned back. This is partly because the siphoning off of taxes for national support dries up the sources of these taxes for local use, and partly because once local interest and responsibility yield to a larger political unit there is no means, short of revolution, for regaining what is given up."

"The facts of history should be a warning to the American people at this time . . . Schools . . . should be located, financed, and managed by the smallest unit of population consistent with good educational and economic practice."

"There is an emergency schoolroom shortage. This emergency is not so great but that practically every state can meet it . . . if there is a will to do so."—BC

Grass Testing Program May Find Answer to Drouth Pasture Problem

COLLEGE STATION—Texas range livestock producers have long sought a drouth resistant grass that would set a good seed crop, produce a lot of leaves and quickly establish itself and also one which could be reseeded at a low cost.

Finding these characteristics in a single grass may be a remote possibility, but A. H. Walker, extension range specialist, says progress is being made. Several grass varieties selected by research workers of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in the states of the southwest and Mexico are showing a lot of promise and small trial or test plantings are now being made in 66 counties.

A total of 255 varieties or selections are included in the county plantings. Cooperating with interested local groups, county agents have located the test plantings on land easily available to those watching the progress of the plants.

Among the prize performers, according to Walker, are a sideoats grama which has runners like buffalograss, also a blue and hairy grama with the same characteristic. Another sideoat has shown marked ability for producing a heavy seed crop and holding it on the stalk until ready for combining.

There are other species which produce a lot of leaves and few stems and still another which produces plenty of green forage in March and April. More than 200 varieties of sideoats grama are under test.

"These are not miracle grasses," points out Walker, "but they do hold a lot of promise for revegetation."

tating old fields and denuded rangelands of Texas." It is Walker's belief that no single grass capable of filling the bill will be found but that a combination will come from the breeding and testing program which can mean a new day for the state's livestock producers who depend upon range forage as a major source of feed.

Everybody loves a map. Winter or summer, it's fun to get one out and "take a trip." A map, a pencil, a good imagination and a partner can take you almost anywhere you want to go. It's as fascinating as a jigsaw puzzle, and some vacation time, the excitement doubles.

To play the game, it's best to have a pilot and a navigator. One charts the course while the other keeps the record.
"Well, now let's see. We could go by Raton, or we could go by Albuquerque. If we went this way, we'd have to leave at 6 to get there before dark. No night driving in the mountains! If we go that way, we'll have to spend the night en route."

"Is this a 1948 map? That's out of date. Ah, here's one for '54." On and on, with endless variations. You strain your eyes reading tiny mileage figures, hesitating over place names that have a magic meaning for someone in the party. Then, likely as not, the night before your departure, some "authority" comes along and upsets your best-laid plans with, "I was up there last week. The thing to do is..."

Out the window go your year's doodlings, and you meekly follow his directions. But you've already had your fun.
Whether you go by bus, by plane, by train or private automobile, map study is a must for inexpensive vacation enjoyment. We've often wondered if people who go lots of places, and don't have to count cost, know the joys of mulling over vacation maps, mile by mile.

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS CLAYTON GOOCH JR.

Colwell-Gooch Exchange Wedding Vows in Recent Chapel Ceremony

In an early summer wedding Sunday afternoon, May 13, Sarah Jane Colwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Boyce Colwell of Canyon, became the bride of Thomas Clayton Gooch Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom C. Gooch of Happy. The Rev. Strauss Atkinson, pastor, read the impressive double ceremony at 3:30 o'clock in the sanctuary of the Joseph A. Hill Chapel.

Mrs. Ray Graham, organist, played a nuptial prelude and accompanied John Petry, who sang "Through The Years," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer." Traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional.

Altar baskets of white gladiolas flanked by tall white candelabra bearing lighted white tapers formed the decorative setting.

Attending the bride as maid-of-honor was her sister, Miss Beverly Boyce Colwell, and Mrs. Robert McClendon served as bridesmatron. Their dresses were of mint green and pale pink antique taffeta respectively and fashioned with fitted bodices, boat-shaped necklines and bouffant skirts. Their head-pleted their costumes. They carried colonial bouquets of white daisies.

Claude Money was best man and Jim Russell served as groomsmen. Ushers were William Bryant Davis and Billy Joe Pegram of Kim, Colorado.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was a picture in a dress of antique white lace and nylon tulle over antique taffeta, styled with fitted bodice and a mandarin collar accented with a small bow, and fitted sleeves of three-quarter length. Her finger tip veil of matching tulle was attached to a tiara of iridescent sequin flowers, rhinestones, and seed pearls. She carried a bridal bouquet of white gardenias and stephanotis.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Colwell wore a navy blue dress with navy and beige accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses. Mrs. Gooch, mother of the bridegroom, chose a dress of blue with pale peach accessories.

Following the ceremony, the bridal party was honored at a reception in Baptist Student Center. Laid with a hand-drawn linen cloth the table was centered with the bride's bouquet. The wedding cake topped with miniature lovebirds and crystal punch bowl and candelabra completed the decor.

Mrs. Wm. Bryant Davis, sister of the bride, served the wedding cake and Mrs. B. J. Pegram of Kim, Colo., sister of the bridegroom, presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Eddie Conner of Amarillo and Mrs. Allan Winters registered the guests. Assisting as members of the house party were Mrs. L. L. Byars, Mrs. L. H. Owens, Mrs. R. A. Smith, Mrs. T. H. Knighton and Mrs. Ed Weeks.

For a wedding trip through Central Texas the bride chose a beige linen sheath with a toast linen duster and beige lizard accessories. Her corsage was of white gardenias.

Mrs. Gooch was graduated from Canyon High School and attended West Texas State College, where she was a member of Gamma Phi Sorority.

Mr. Gooch was graduated from Canyon High School and Baylor University at Waco, where he was a member of Baylor Chamber of Commerce.

IT'S SWITCHCRAFT
— that's what it is!

You'll see when you try Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflo!

IT TAKES a new word to describe the magic at your command when you drive a '56 Buick — with the newest transmission of them all.

It's full power go-ahead on the instant. You can get where you were just looking in a shaved second's time — with the most modern and most thrilling surge of safety acceleration in the land today.

It's smoothness, too. Complete freedom from the "bump" and lag of gears shifting. Only with Dynaflo can you go winging away with so smooth a sweep.

And only with a '56 Buick can you enjoy Dynaflo's newest marvel. It's something the engineers call "double regeneration." Lets you start off like an Olympic sprinter, with the pedal pressed just an inch or less. (And driving that way, you get better gas mileage.)

There's more big news, too, that goes with this new Buick magic. And that covers a lot more than styling.

Sure — you'll like the graceful new beauty of the V-shaped prow and sweep-ahead look. And you'll like the extra room inside.

But as you drive you'll find that this Buick responds with the new might of a big, record-powered V8 engine of 322-cubic-inch heft.

It handles easy as butter to a warm knife. Tracks the curves like a plane on the beam. Makes any road seem paved with pillows.

And what's responsible for all this are more new engineering advances than Buick has ever made in one model year.

So why not come in and see — and feel — the difference they make? You'll soon know why owners find it's the best Buick yet — and the best buy yet, by far.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century — optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

TELEPHONE TALK

by W. L. Leavy, Manager

"Service Was Never Better"

Some time ago, we mailed out post cards to all our customers in Canyon. If you'll remember, we asked you in the post card what you didn't like about your telephone service.

Maybe some of you were surprised that we would ask a question like that. But we meant it. We weren't asking for compliments. We did it to find out what you really thought about telephone service here.

(When the cards came back with your answers, we were happy to see that most of you said, "Service is very good, well satisfied with it." And it was good hearing it from you, because we're all admit that nobody knows more about your service than you do.

We also got a few complaints — thanks for telling us about them — and we tried to clear those up in a hurry so that everyone in Canyon would be satisfied with their telephone service.

Meanwhile, don't hesitate if something's bothering you right now about your telephone company's service. Just call the telephone company. We would like to know about it, and we will try to do something about it, too.

Stop Those Hurried Dashes

Ever notice how you run for a ringing telephone because you're often in another part of the house? Then, when you get there, you're probably a little out of breath as you answer.

The best way I know of to stop those dashes through the house is a handy extension telephone.

Our records show that the most popular spots for an extension with most people are the bedroom and kitchen. But don't forget the living room or the workshop — or anywhere, really, that's most convenient for you and your family.

To order an extension, just call the telephone company. The cost of an extension in your home is only $.75 a month, plus a one-time installation charge of $1.75.

Long Distance Visit

I was thinking just the other day that you can't drive a car from Canyon to Fort Worth for $.90. Yet, you can visit there — by Long Distance — for just $.90.

That's the cost of a three-minute station-to-station call, after 6 p. m. and all day Sunday. Long Distance rates to anywhere are much less than you might think. So plan to visit regularly by Long Distance. And when you call, remember to call by number — it's twice as fast.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

The account for Canyon Bank Day Saturday will be $95, announced Roland Black, chamber of commerce manager.

C. N. Tippery was the winner last week, but he was not in a participating store and received only $5 instead of the $65 in the account.

If the account is not won this week, the drawing will be for $125 next week. The winning name this Saturday will be announced at 3 p. m.

Amarillo Men Buy West Texas Motor

Two Amarillo men purchased West Texas Motor Company recently from David Horn, who had the business for the past 18 months.

The men, John Wilkerson and Shep Townsend, have announced a plan to construct a new building for the agency on Highway 87 about two blocks south of the underpass.

They plan to operate the business in its present quarters on the square until the new building is ready. The new building will be constructed by Arthur Truitt and leased by West Texas Motor.

Wilkerson has been sales manager of the Emmett Davis Buick Company in Amarillo and also sales manager of Truitt Buick Company, the predecessor of the present company. Before moving to Amarillo, he was co-owner of the Ford agency in Tulsa.

Townsend, a brother-in-law of Truitt, has been parts manager of the Buick agency in Amarillo for the past three years.

Both men expect to move to Canyon in the near future.

Supreme Court Justice Will Wilson grabbed the political spotlight with the announcement that he was resigning on June 1.

He will devote his full time to an aggressive campaign for the office of Attorney General.

Said Wilson, "Texas' greatest need today is vigorous enforcement of Texas laws. I believe I can serve Texas best in filling that need."

Wilson, who gained fame as Dallas' racket-busting district attorney, has served six years on the Supreme Court. He was elected in 1950 by a heavy majority, and is one of the youngest men ever to serve on the high bench.

It was felt by most seasoned observers that Wilson would have been re-elected without opposition had he desired to continue as a member of the State's highest tribunal.

Wilson served as Assistant Attorney General of Texas under Gerald Mann and Grover Sellers in 1941-42.

Ike's Visit

President Dwight D. Eisenhower's visit to his native state, planned long ago, by chance came three days after the Democratic State Convention. There, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson was endorsed as favorite son candidate for President.

Thus, Texas has two native sons in the race for Chief Executive of the United States.

Gov. Allan Shivers, who has said he will support the presidential nominee whom he considers best for the nation, regardless of party, didn't attend the Dallas convention at which Johnson was the main figure.

As Texas Chief Executive he did, however, welcome President Eisenhower at Waco, where Ike

Gets Nails from Alley

In only 2½ blocks of alley, the county's nail picker scooped up this much metal. The magnet was taken down the alleys around the square last week. In normal use on roads, the nail picker averages from four to six miles an hour and the magnet clears the road of loose metal.

received an honorary degree from Baylor University.

Eisenhower leaders, including National Committeeman Jack Porter, and other Texas Republican notables, conferred with the President briefly in Waco. Also present was Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, late of the President's cabinet and now co-chairman of the national Citizens for Eisenhower organization. Governor Shivers did not take part in the conference.

Johnson's Goals

Senator Johnson gained his personal goals at the Democratic convention. But his control of the convention was shaky all the way through.

Near the end, his personal requests were turned down. His reported choice for Democratic National Committeewoman, Mrs. Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr. of McAllen, was sidetracked for Mrs. R. D. Randolph of Houston. She replaces Mrs. Hilda Weinert of Seguin. Also replaced was National Committeeman Ben Ramsey. Elected in his stead was Byron Skelton of Temple.

A new state executive committee is not to be named until the usual time — the September convention. Meanwhile, the May convention is not adjourned — merely recessed. This is interpreted as a "foot in the door" to keep watch over the present committee during the summer.

Defeated conservatives say that Shivers conservatives and Johnson conservatives soon will be back in the same camp. They think it can happen in time to shift party control again in the September convention.

New Tax Suggested

When the 55th Legislature convenes next January, the biggest bugaboo will be a familiar one — need for more money.

Budget estimates indicate at least $25 million more a year will be needed for 1957-59 appropriations.

Campaign platforms of legislative candidates show that many think existing tax sources are paying as much as they can.

Many suggest that new revenue sources should be found to equalize the load. Few are very specific.

A concrete suggestion came last week from a University of Texas economics professor writing for "Comment," the Bureau of Public Affairs monthly. A "business activities" tax was proposed by Carey C. Thompson.

Such a tax, said Thompson, would be based on value added to a product by manufacture and hence would hit "only newly-created wealth hitherto untaxed."

Michigan, he said, collects about $30 million a year by this means.

Alternate proposals, such as income or sales taxes, widely used in other states, have always met strong opposition in Texas.

"Right-to-Work" Law Hit

Labor leaders are elated, state officials glum over the crippling of Texas' "right-to-work" law.

U. S. Supreme Court last week ruled such state laws cannot apply in the railroad industry. They are superseded by the National Railway Labor Act which authorizes closed shop contracts.

Said Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepherd: It means "railroad workers must join unions or go hungry. A man who is refused the right to work unless he supports certain organizations cannot exercise any of the other rights guaranteed by the constitution."

Jerry Holleman, executive secretary of Texas AFL, called the decision "a great step forward. Texas Federation believes Congress should extend this same protection to the rest of the workers in the country."

Old Debts Collected

A state auditor's survey of the General Land Office resulted in payment of some long overdue debts to the school land fund.

State Auditor C. H. Cavness released a report covering the three-year period just prior to Bascom Giles' resignation. It had turned up 24 mineral leases on which annual rental payments were in arrears. These were called to the attention of Land Office person-

Bluestone Offers Remedy to Scum Problems on Stock Tanks, Troughs

COLLEGE STATION—Bluestone offers a remedy to green scum forming on troughs, reservoirs or ponds. Bluestone in the right mixture, with correct precautions will remove scum with no harmful effects on fish or livestock.

The best way to avoid scum is to put a cover or roof over water to keep out sunlight. Water protected from sunlight will not support scum, says M. K. Thornton, extension agricultural chemist, and W. L. Ulich, extension agricultural engineer. But, they add, it is not always possible to cover all water.

In such cases, it is advisable to use bluestone. Safe dosage is 8 pounds of bluestone per million gallons; 1 ounce per 8,000 gallons; or 1 level teaspoonful per 1,500 gallons of water. These proportions should be carefully followed, cautions the specialists.

Bluestone will lose its effectiveness in a short time and scum may grow again from new seed falling in fresh water. If this occurs, treatment must be repeated.

Too much bluestone is injurious to livestock, humans or fish and care should be taken to add only proper amounts.

Bluestone should be dissolved in a container and poured into the trough while stirring. In treating ponds, bluestone may be put in a sack and dragged through the water from a boat until all of it is dissolved.

In small tanks, scum may be prevented from re-forming by placing pieces of copper sheets or shavings in the water, say the specialists. This is done best by nailing copper sheets on wooden posts set in the tank.

This will be effective for a long time unless the copper becomes covered with dirt and slime, they add.

Ponds should be treated one end at a time if it contains skin-fish such as catfish. This allows the fish to escape concentrated areas near the boat. Scale fish are less nel, and collections of $9,373, plus $402 interest, were made.

Cavness noted that J. Earl Rudder, appointed to succeed Giles as land commissioner, has sought to improve lease handling insofar as funds permit.

Restrictive legislative appropriations cause the office to be understaffed, the auditor commented.

New Freeways Approved

Two new freeway projects were given State Highway Commission okay.

One is to be 33 miles long, on U. S. 81, from Laredo to the La Salle County line. Another multi-lane stretch of 11 miles is planned west of Mineral Wells.

KILL ALL SPECIES OF WIREWORM WITH A SINGLE

seed treatment

NEWLY SEEDING FIELDS make good feeding grounds for true and false wireworms and other soil insects. If there is not enough moisture in the soil to permit quick sprouting, seeds are vulnerable to insect attack for several days. But the threat of wireworm damage should be recognized at all times.

A dieldrin preventive seed treatment is a sure way to protect small grain seeds until they sprout.

LOW-COST PROTECTION

It costs just pennies per acre to treat seed with dieldrin, but dollars per acre to feed the wireworms untreated seed! A dieldrin seed treatment prevents "spotty" stands... eliminates the expense of time and money for re-planting or sowing extra seed for the wireworms to feed on... assures you of a longer grazing period. And dieldrin does not harm plant development.

COMPATIBLE WITH FUNGICIDES

Dieldrin is compatible with fungicides... can be applied at the same time to save the expense and work of a double treatment. You can buy dieldrin-treated seed from your seed dealer, or treat the seed yourself. Dieldrin can be applied as a slurry, dry, or in a grain drill. A convenient method is to apply dieldrin to the seed in the grain drill as you plant. Follow directions on the label for the particular formulation you buy.

LESS WORK AT PLANTING TIME

Seed can be treated now and stored until planting time. Dieldrin eliminates the rush of treating seed and planting within a few days. Dieldrin formulations are available throughout the small grain growing area. See your local supplier.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

Back, years and years ago, when I was editor of a daily in a small West Texas town, the community certainly had its share of "characters." (No comments, please.) There was "Amen" Hawkins—his last name was really something else—who drove a dilapidated dray. His heartily-voiced approval of the minister's utterances each Sunday accounted for his nickname.

Then there was Newt, foremost of the moonshiners. He wore soiled overalls, had a tobacco-stained mustache and a pronounced odor. A customer once doubtfully inquired, "Is your whisky sanitary?" Newt snorted, "A-curse it is; don't I make it myself?"

And there was the town's leading knife-swapper. He was long, tall and scrawny, with a drawling voice and possessed limitless patience, the quality that made Grant great and which is indispensable to the successful fisherman, checker-player or knife-swapper.

Once, just to see what Pete could do, a friend gave him an old knife, which had two blades, one of them broken. Pete cleaned the knife up, sharpened the one good blade and made the broken one into a half-size blade. Then he went into action—if the movements of snails, glaciers and knife-swappers can be so termed.

At the close of the week, Pete had a fancy three-bladed knife and $1.85 in cash, the outcome of innumerable swaps. Of course, the same amount of effort, ingenuity and lying would have put over a town-let sale but that would have been much less fun. Pete was an artist and had no real desire to commercialize his heaven-bestowed gift.

And, final touch of the true artist, he sold the knife for two dollars to the friend who had started him off that week with the virtually worthless one.

Pete ran a hotel near the county jail. One afternoon, a prisoner broke out. The authorities, thinking it remarkable that no one had seen him as he escaped by dropping from a rear second-story window, did a little inquiring around and learned that Pete was at the hotel at the time, resting up between knife-swappings. He readily admitted that he had seen the prisoner get away.

"Why didn't I report it?" he repeated the question. "Well, I figured if I did it might make folks mad and hurt the business of my hotel."

MR. AND MRS. JOE ROGERS

Peggy Curlee Marries Joe Rogers In Recent Candlelight Ceremony

In a candlelight ceremony at the Calvary Baptist Church, Peggy Louise Curlee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Curlee, 521 Fannin St., Amarillo, recently became the bride of Joe Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Rogers, 1209 9th Ave.

The Rev. W. H. Bryant of Wayland College read the double-ring service before an altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli and greenery backed by arched candelabras. Mrs. Jerry Green, cousin of the bride, played traditional selections.

Attending the bride as bridesmaid, Aladell Williams wore a dress of white organdy over mint green and a corsage of white roses. As matron of honor, Mrs. Gracie Black, cousin of the bridegroom, wore a yellow dress with a corsage of white roses.

Lynis Ann Davis, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She was attired in a yellow organdy dress and carried a gold hand crocheted basket filled with yellow rose petals.

Candlelighters were Mrs. Carlene Curlee, sister-in-law of the bride, and Shirley Duval. Curtis Marchbanks served as best man, and Cloyd Adams, cousin of the bridegroom, was usher.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a street length dress of white lace over nylon with white lace elbow length mitts. Her finger-tip length veil was attached to a small white hat.

She carried a white Bible topped with white rosebuds and showered with satin streamers. She wore the traditional something old and new, borrowed and blue.

Mrs. Curlee, mother of the bride, wore a blue and white nylon dress with white accessories and a corsage of white roses. Mrs. Rogers, the bridegroom's mother, wore a toast dress with brown accessories and her corsage was of white roses.

Following the ceremony the couple left for a short trip in New Mexico and Colorado. They will be at home in Gunnison, Colo., where he is employed.

Spotted Aphid Hurting Alfalfa

COLLEGE STATION—The spotted alfalfa aphid is posing a serious threat to alfalfa in all areas of Texas.

Freeman F. Fuller, Extension entomologist, Texas A&M College, says the spotted alfalfa aphid is whitish-yellow. It is 1/16 to 1/8 inch long, or about 1/2 the size of the pea aphid. They have four to six conspicuous rows of dark spots on their back and winged adults have smoky areas along the wing veins.

These insects, says Fuller, can be found, to some extent, in alfalfa fields throughout the year. At first, aphids can be found on lower portions of plants or in debris on the ground.

As populations increase, they may be found on all parts of plants. Aphids feed in groups, usually on the underside of lower leaves, sucking juices often causing leaves to turn yellow and shed.

Heavy infestations of aphids cause a reduction in stand and in yield of hay, adds Fuller. Honey dew produced by aphids supports sooty mold on hay causing poor quality while making it difficult to dehydrate, cut or to bale the crop.

Control measures should be started as soon as signs of aphids are found in the crop by using malathion or parathion, the only recommended insecticides.

In some cases an application of one of these insecticides may be effective for a period of only 7 to 14 days.

A large initial kill may be obtained with the insecticides but the insects have a tremendous capacity to build-up after poisoning, states Fuller. It may require two or more insecticide applications to protect plants between cuttings or to produce a seed crop. Forage crops treated with parathion should not be grazed or cut for hay for 15 days after treatment while those treated with malathion may be grazed or cut for hay 7 days later, says Fuller. This time lapse is necessary to assure the absence of any poison residue when the crop is cut.

"You understand, no doubt, that when he dies his vast fortune will be left to me?"

"Ye-yes."

On a large city bus two Negro women were discussing the war experiences of their respective husbands. One of the women admitted—a bit shamefully—that her man spent some time in the guardhouse because he had unwittingly insulted an officer.

"I don't just remember what officer he was," the woman said, "but I think he was some kind of rill."

"Rill?" exclaimed the other woman. "I ain't never heard of no such rank as that."

"Yes," continued the first. "I'm sure he was a rill. But right now I can't remember whether he was a corpo-rill or a ginny-rill."

The House passed the Administration's defense appropriation bill unanimously. It was for $33,635,066,000, or a half-billion dollars less than President Eisenhower requested.

gain some additional revenue for the city. At that time, the commission estimated an additional $24,000 would come in if water use ran about the same as last year.

With the additional revenue from water and from taxes, totaling $36,685, the city will be able to provide a surplus at the end of the year to take care of items which come up and which are not budgeted.

However, although it was not included in the budget, the commission is faced with the possibility of having to buy a new fire truck during the coming year, in which event, the surplus would be taken up.

At the present time, any emergency expenses which come up must be paid for with money borrowed on short-term loans from the bank.

tinued driving Chapman's car on occasion. He also had a convertible which he drove regularly. Mrs. Young told the sheriff that Young drove Chapman's car on May 24 the last time before being arrested. He parked it behind the rooming house where they lived.

Young and his wife broke up on May 27. Someone told the police that Chapman's car was sitting behind Young's house with 1955 Arizona tags on it, and police in Wichita called Sheriff Johnston about midnight on the 28th asking if he still wanted the car (a nation-wide pickup was broadcast for the car after a description of the car was obtained in March.)

Sheriff Johnston gave the Kansas police a description of the man they were looking for, told them to arrest him if possible and drove to Wichita that night.

Wichita police, a deputy sheriff and an agent of the FBI were waiting outside Young's house when he came out to go to work on the morning of May 29. They arrested him then.

Sheriff Johnston arrived in Wichita about an hour after the arrest.

After questioning Young, the sheriff called Deputy Burnett to join him and the two began bringing Young back to Canyon.

They stopped along the route to pick up Chapman's belongings which Young had given away or sold.

Near Pilcher, they stopped to drag a creek for the bayonet, which Young said he threw away as he drove over a bridge. The river was swollen from recent rains, and the officers were unable to recover the bayonet.

The chief of police in Pilcher told Sheriff Johnston he would try again later to get the bayonet. If he is unsuccessful, the sheriff said he would go to Pilcher later and get the weapon.

After arriving in Canyon, Young talked freely with reporters and radiomen.

He told how his arrest came about. He said he had been fussing with his wife ever since they were married. "All that stuff was on my mind, I guess, and I just kept fighting," he said.

"Finally on Sunday (the Sunday before he was arrested) I told her we should bust up and get out of each others hair until we could get along better. She said, 'Okay,' and packed up her clothes and left.

"On Tuesday morning I went out and got in my convertible—I just ran up the back and jumped into the seat—and cranked her up. Just as I cranked her up all those police officers came at me with pistols sticking at me. I don't know why they used those pistols," he said.

Young said he had just about made up his mind to go to the police Tuesday evening (May 29) or Wednesday morning and tell them what he had done.

Young stands 6'7 and weighs 275 pounds. He said he had been that big since he was 17, and would neither gain nor lose weight if he ate heavily or not at all. He was born Sept. 20, 1930, in Pilcher.

While talking with reporters, Young ate four candy bars within about 10 minutes. "I sure like candy and pop. I guess I eat too much of it, but I sure do like it," he said.

Young said he has played in string bands in night clubs in Idaho. Asked what instrument he plays, Young said:

"I can play any kind of string instrument you set in front of me. I've got another brother who can play any kind of horn instrument you put in front of him. My sister can play the piano, organ and the, uh, accordion. She mostly plays in churches though. She plays church music. I don't go to church as much as I should. I ought to go more."

Worrying if he might "get the gas chamber," Young asked if those present thought he might. Told that his background, if he is on the witness stand, would help him possibly, Young said:

"It might hurt because I stole some cars when I was a boy. I've been straight since then, though. I did write some hot checks a couple of years back, but I've been straight."

Young is proud of his height and his large size. He bragged of how handcuffs would not reach around his wrists, and asked a deputy to get a pair and show how they wouldn't fit. He likes to stand beside shorter people and get his picture taken with his arm around them.

One of his proudest tales is of how he met a midget in Idaho and how much difference there was in their heights.

When posed beside shorter people, Young breaks into a big smile and laughs.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Wilson over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Ole Ford of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Hamill Wilson and children of Fritch, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Wilson of Amarillo and Mrs. Tige Groves and daughters of Stinnett. REFRIGERATED AUTO AIR CONDITIONING

Yes, you really can step out of your car looking your best — even on the hottest day. This modern young woman does it. All of her smartness isn't in her looks... she's had her car equipped with a Mark IV. The air is cool and dry. Windows are closed against wind and noise, dust or dampness.

While others arrive wind blown and humidly limp, she steps out as smoothly groomed as when she left her dressing table. She's at her best all summer long.

Makes a Mark IV auto air conditioner well worth considering, doesn't it? Only $295 or $345, plus installation. Excise tax already paid.

Who's Canyon best customer? In the contest. Guess, ah, come on, guess. It will be you. Why, yes it is, Mrs. H. Enlow and Mrs. Jim Strain. You two will have to split the prize if it seems because both of you were voted by clerks the most popular in the best customer contest. Your money prize was sponsored. Your money prize was from the clerks in Cooper's.

The qualities which clerks say are considered when choosing Enlow and Mrs. Strain were: They are punctual and that they are not coming in after closing.

They are understanding, being patient when the clerk is held up some reason.

They face the fact that the clerks are human and make mistakes.

They are satisfied with the products or else do no griping at unsatisfactory products.

They respect the clerk in the manner in which they expect to be respected.

They are courteous and are helpful for the service rendered.

Mrs. Enlow and Mrs. Strain, in practice of trying to be good customers has paid off, maybe not much in money but a great deal by having created a feeling of appreciation among clerks in Canyon. As one clerk said, "It's a pleasure to wait on these women."

Beauty spots around town: The large cactus plant growing in the corner of the W. H. Harden at 1801 Third Avenue. It has huge violet blossoms now at peak of beauty.

The mammoth pink rose bush growing on the east side of the Walker place. Through its growth, it has arranged itself in a fascinating pattern. It is near the bottom of a large tree and has twined its branches around the limbs of the tree, goal evidently being the top. It looks like seeing an oak tree with pink rose blossoms.

The dense growth of blossoms separate and are quite a contrast against the green leaves.

Did you notice in May the rose between Alvin McDonald's and Hosea Foster's. Bit red and glamorously showy.

If you like hollyhocks, the red and white ones growing in front of the house numbered 2101 Eighth Avenue are mighty nice. Hollyhocks have a nice old-fashioned beauty. And they're not so temperamental that they won't grow on the plains.

The W. F. Bond's garden at 500 24th St. is one of the neatest in town. Pencil straight furrows of brown are marked with bunches of promising green sprouts and leaves, very neatly spaced too. Bet there will be lots of garden salads and fresh vegetables for dinner.

Ummm, white roses at the T. A. Blacks.

More roses and more roses all with their own beauty show at the Clyde Warwick home.

The tree lovers pride, the weeping willow. Getting more eye-catching every year is the weeping willow on the WTSC president's home lawn.

You who are struggling through the process of planting a lawn can well appreciate one that has the qualities every landscaper and gardener dreams of — an even shade of green, thick with no bare spots, doesn't try to strangle your neighbor's special hybrid grass, etc. Take a look at the lawn at 1901 Third Avenue.

The beauty spots, which I think Canyon has an abundance of, are something Canyonites can be proud to point out.

But there are always the ugly spots. Too bad, for often the exterior of a home causes those passing by to receive an unfavorable impression of the folks living there.

Laura V. Hamner had a few words to say about this recently in her Sunday Amarillo Globe-News column. I don't believe I can quote for word for word, but she told a brief story about a young boy who, after seeing a home, said, "Uggie man." After being questioned as to why he said that, the lad answered, "Uggie trees, uggie flowers, uggie house, uggie man."

Theresa and Charlie Hillier's young daughter, Rena Gayle, has learned to ask the blessing at mealtime. Theresa says Rena Gayle's version is: "Thank You for the food. 'Men, 'men, 'men.'"

For a party treat, Mrs. Strauss Atkinson suggests Cook Book rye bread with cream cheese and chives. For an easy, tasty main dish, she advises trying Armour canned roast served open face on buns or toast with barbecue sauce.

If grandmom thought life was getting too modern about five or ten years ago, she should take a look at the article on electric wonders in the June issue of Woman's Home Companion.

Just glancing through the pages makes a housewife drool like a kid in front of a candy shop. The illustrated feature shows among other things dishwashers that not only wash but dry dishes, elevator ovens and what I think is the greatest wonder of all, the electronic oven.

You know, the electronic oven is the one that bakes potatoes in five minutes, a five pound roast in 30 minutes and the oven and utensils remain cool. I was reading the other day that you can even use paper utensils.

The first thought I had and which others have said that they had, was what would happen to your hand if it accidentally got in the oven—hand-burger? I hear that it is safe because this electronic creature doesn't care for human flesh.

Like Bernice Strawn, Betty Wadworth and Eugenia Smith say in Woman's Home Companion, the electronic oven that cooks with micro-waves, is still in the marvel stage for most of us. Sometime back, a Southwestern Public Service advertising agent said very few ovens had been sold because of the terrific price. I asked about how much one would cost. I don't remember just what his answer was, but it was a large enough amount to make me want to change the subject.

Another electric marvel (not in Woman's Home Companion) making a grand debut is the range that adjusts temperature automatically. If anything would make cooking easy, this range would. It will lower and raise the temperature according to the temperature of the food, making for quicker, better cooked meals. What a shock to the family—no more burned steak.

Dorothy Cleavinger, Louis Pippin Marry in Formal Chapel Ceremony

The Joseph A. Hill Chapel was the site May 26 for the marriage of Dorothy Jean Cleavinger, daughter of E. R. Cleavinger, to Louis Danny Pippin of Canyon, son of Mrs. J. F. King of Amarillo. The Rev. L. L. Hill officiated at the formal double-ring service. Vows were exchanged before a satin draped altar flanked by seven branch candelabra. Baskets and altar vases of white gladiolas completed the arrangement.

Organist, Juanelva Rose, played the prelude, "Because," and accompanied Joanne Hill who sang "How Do I Love Thee." Largo from Xerxes was played by the organist during the ceremony.

Nancy Cleavinger attended her sister as maid of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. Bill Cleavinger, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Jimmie Armstrong, cousin of the bridegroom.

All the attendants were attired in gowns of blue net over taffeta styled with full skirts and fitted bodices. Net was draped over their necks and shoulders, and small taffeta and net hats were of matching blue and featured rhinestone studded veils. Blue butterflies highlighted the bouquets of white carnations.

Best man was Jimmie Armstrong, cousin of the bridegroom, and groomsmen were Richard Hall and Bill Cleavinger, brother of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father.

a round illusion yoke above lace. Her wrist length fitted sleeves terminated in points over the hands. An illusion waist length veil fell from her headdress of pearls. The bridal bouquet of stephanotis and white love knots featured a white orchid over a white Bible.

The bride's mother wore a light blue lace dress with white accessories and a white carnation corsage. Aunts of the bridegroom, Mrs. John Moore and Mrs. Earl Pippin, chose pink and navy costumes respectively.

Following the ceremony, the bridal party was honored with a reception in Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church. Mrs. Earline Moreman poured punch, and Mrs. Earl Pippin served the three tiered wedding cake. At the guests book was Mrs. James Scott. Other members of the house party were Mrs. John Jennings and Mrs. George L. Grogan.

For a trip to El Paso and Juarez, the bride traveled in a navy blue linen suit with white accessories and white orchid corsage.

The couple is at home at 204 18th St.

Mrs. Pippin, a graduate of Canyon High School, is attending West Texas State. She finished Music Education degree requirements in January. She is a member of the WTSC band, choir, orchestra, Tau Beta Sigma and Amarillo Symphony.

Mr. Pippin is a graduate of Amarillo High School. He attended Amarillo Junior College and West Texas State and was a member of the faculty for one year at Baird High School and Happy High School. He served two years in the Army. In August, Mr. Pippin will receive his masters degree in education from West Texas State.

Dan Smoot Speaks For Evetts Haley

Dan Smoot, independent magazine publisher and speaker on a national radio program, came to Canyon Friday to push the gubernatorial campaign of J. Evetts Haley of Canyon.

Smoot, who formerly appeared on H. L. Hunt's Facts Forum, told a group of about 50 persons gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Campbell that there will be a run-off and "your man from Canyon may surprise you."

"Haley is the only conservative candidate, by correct definition," Smoot said, "and it is ridiculous to think Ralph Yarborough, the only liberal, can poll 51 per cent of the votes against five other candidates. Haley does have a chance in this wide-open race."

"I've seen it happen other places, and I just wonder if it is happening here—that the home folks don't know what they have," Smoot said. "I wonder if you know you have in J. Evetts Haley, a man of national reputation."

Smoot urged that voters go to the polls and cast their votes on principle rather than on the basis of who they think will win, regardless of principle. He advised that backbone is needed to vote for what is right regardless of "chances for winning."

Smoot said interposition, the thing Haley is taking as the key to his campaign platform, is simply saying "no" to "illegal actions of the federal government." He said this is necessary to re-establish the Federal System which was established by the Constitution and which permitted the United States to grow into the most powerful nation in the world.

"The eyes of the world are on Texas," Smoot said, "and it is important to freedom to get a man in office who will say federal power has gone too far and we must roll it back."

Smoot said interposition has been tried throughout the history of the United States, more often north of the Mason and Dixon line than south, and that it has worked. He and Haley explained interposition as refusal of a state to abide by "immoral, unconstitutional federal mandates."

Smoot said the Supreme Court's ruling regarding desegregation "is a constitutional abortion quite apart from the business of mixing the races."

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS
OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Taxes

I have just returned from a luncheon at the National Press Club which was addressed by Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey. At meetings of this kind, the speaker usually makes his speech and then subjects himself to a question and answer period. This was the procedure followed on this occasion.

However, the Secretary almost turned the tables. He figured out some rather searching questions concerning the fiscal policies of this Administration and directed these questions to himself, and then proceeded to answer them.

This was a novel approach, and it appeared that the Secretary might have gotten himself out of the line of fire for some embarrassing questions.

He took up the question about the possibility of a budget surplus, and admitted that it was conjectural, but that they felt sure that they could have a budget surplus of around 1.8 billion dollars.

He pointed out that since this government is spending 1 billion dollars every 5 days, which is being collected along as it is being spent, a hitch or delay in the mails could upset the fiscal apple cart.

The Secretary also asked himself whether or not there would be a tax cut if there was a budget surplus. He then proclaimed an emphatic "no" (that is, if his recommendation should be the determining factor). He explained that before a tax cut would be in order, there must be some measurable space between the income and the outgo, in favor of the income.

He also treated the discussed fuss between the Federal Reserve Board and the Treasury and undertook to point out what whatever disagreements might be present between these two agencies they were not serious but matters of honest disagreement that would and could be resolved to the ultimate benefit of the country.

He spoke at length of paying our way as we go and not burdening our children and grandchildren with further indebtedness. However, he failed to state that the national debt today is greater by several billion dollars than when he took office.

In fact, when he took office the law prohibited the national debt from exceeding $275 billion. Today the debt is $276,296,000,000, or over 1 billion dollars more than was allowed by law at the time when Mr. Humphrey took office. He states that he wanted to make payments on the public debt rather than to use the budget surplus for tax cutting.

If he used every dime of the budget surplus that he claims will be available for such purposes, the public debt today would still be several billion dollars more than it was when he took office.

When the question and answer period arrived, one of the reporters asked him what he thought of T. Coleman Andrews' proposal to do away with the income tax.

You could tell by the expression on the Secretary's face that the proposals of his former Internal Revenue Commissioner, T. Coleman Andrews, did not have

Secretarial approval.

As a matter of fact, Secretary Humphrey was visibly flushed and started his answer by saying that he thought the public trust assumed by a public official when he took a high office did not cease with termination of that office, but continued on thereafter.

The general appearance of the Secretary under the circumstances indicated to me that he thought T. Coleman Andrews was engaging in quite a bit of demagoguery.

Not being a mind reader, I would not want to leave the impression that the Secretary so felt, but his general demeanor and his statement that the proposals of T. Coleman Andrews were very unfortunate did lead me to believe that T. Coleman Andrews should not apply for a reinstatement in his former position or in any other position that might be under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Treasury.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Colwell of Denton have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to Wilbert H. Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Long of Canyon.

Wedding vows will be solemnized June 6 in the Highland Baptist Church, Fort Worth, with the Rev. Henry Riek officiating.

Miss Colwell, a graduate of North Texas State, is on the library staff of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Long, a graduate of West Texas State, is attending Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. He is associate pastor of the Highland Baptist Church.

Courtesies Honor Ruth Ann Bolton

Ruth Ann Bolton, bride-elect of James Kauffman, was complimented recently at a miscellaneous shower at 2407 Sixth Avenue.

The honoree, Mrs. Lewis K. Bolton, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. A. J. Kauffman, mother of the bridegroom-elect, were presented with corsages of blue and white carnations.

Hostesses were Mrs. Florene Moore, Mrs. Walter Graham, Mrs. L. F. Brandon, Mrs. H. C. Adcock, Mrs. G. L. Davis, Mrs. Lorenzo Wirt, Mrs. Doris Gillham, Mrs. R. V. Pennington, Mrs. J. G. Ford and Mrs. A. M. Cunningham.

Presiding at the refreshment table were Martha Quillen, Nancy Adcock and Mrs. R. A. Burgess. Mary Sue Bolton presided at the guest book and Ann Moore played piano selections.

Laid with a white cutwork linen cloth, the refreshment table was centered with an arrangement of blue daisies and white carnations which featured miniature bride and bridegroom. Blue candles were accented with blue and white flowers placed on the candle holders.

Approximately 100 guests attended or sent gifts.

Miss Bolton was also honored recently with a surprise personal shower given by members of Delta Zeta Chi Sorority. The lounge of Randall Hall was the site for the courtesy.

Hostesses were Linda Barbee of Phillips; Peggy James, Borger; Kathy Wright, Memphis; Sandra Jefferson and Dyalthia Bradshaw, Bovina; Nancy Adcock, Ann Moore and Mrs. Rhea June Burgess, Canyon.

Approximately 25 girls attended.

Bottle, Bottle—Who Owns the Bottle

ROCKPORT—A mysterious blue-green bottle containing a longitude and latitude message in Spanish was found in the Gulf off Padre Island by R. J. Kemp, assistant director of Coastal Fisheries for the Game and Fish Commission.

Kemp, who was collecting marine specimens for the commission's laboratory here, said the location given in the message indicated the bottle was launched near a small group of islands off the west coast of Africa on Nov. 9, 1954. The exhibit has been referred to national authorities to determine whether the message is, as suspected, a part of a study about ocean currents.

COULD BE TRUE

"How'd you come out in that fight with your wife the other night?"

"Aw, she came crawling to me on her hands and knees."

"What did she say?"

"Come out from under that bed, you coward."

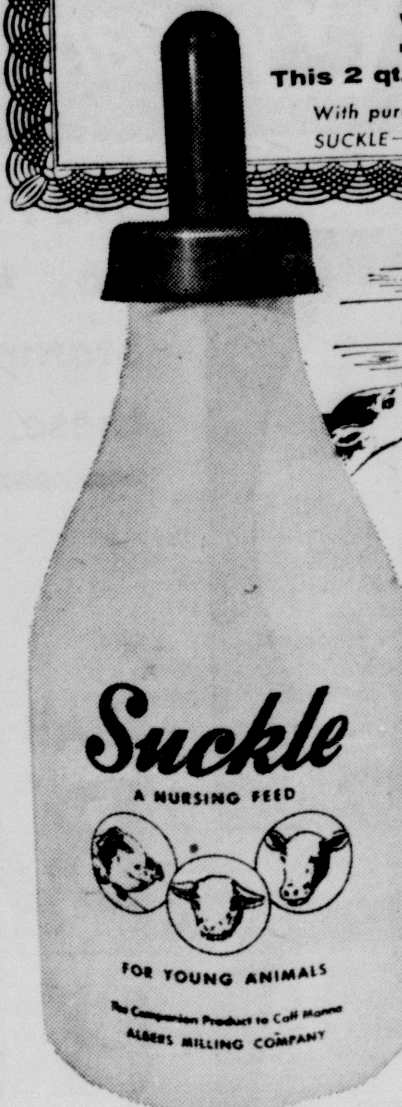

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company has announced an expansion program that will cost more than $2,000,000,000 in 1956.

The Bonn Government has also rejected Soviet pressure for a bilateral trade agreement.
